"Saturday evening Adams, who was a ringleader in bringing about the riot of November 3d, appeared on the streets armed, and was reported to have made threats. He came into town again this morning armed, and a difficulty having arison between him and four citizens in the office of one of the factories. Adams was knocked down and severely injured. The chizens appeared before the Mayor, and were admitted to ball on their own bond in $25 cach to appear in court of the 26th instant. A thirty-eight-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver and a belt of cartridges was found on Adams's person. Adams was one of the witnesses before Senator Sherman's investigating committee.

I feel that it is due to the people here that I should say that much, and laisee myself on record officially as being unwilling to admit that the civil authorities cannot preserve the peace.

Why does not the House of Representatives order an investigation, and let the ignorant negroes see that one house of Congress is in the hands of men who have some regard for the rights of white men, and who will believe a respectable white man in preference to an ignorant, prejudiced, bigoted, superstitious negro? It is on unquestionable authority that they were the town," (his words) "that it was by on unquestionable authority that they were they are the are they are the are they time that this work of teaching the blacks elected in full conformity to the rule laid live, that an attempt was made to take my life, and the unfortunate man who fell in that their employers are their worst encmies had come to an end.

And yet there are Democratic papers in Virginia which even to-day seem to regard the tariff question as the one upon which the voters ought to be divided in the next presidential election.

A Question Answered.

The following comes to us from as sound a Democrat and as true a man as Southside Virginia can boast of. It is merely one form of a question which has been put to us in a dozen dresses. Our correspondent writes as follows :

To the Editor of the Dispatch:

When it is so perfectly plain that the Democrats of Virginia (I mean the men who do the voting) do not intend to divide in the coming election on the tariff, where is the seuse of keeping up the fuss that they "may" divide? Think you they are want feels as to again play into the hands they "may" divide? Think you they are such fools as to again play into the bands of William Mahone? Surely they have some sense, and ninety-nine out of every hun-dred of them would rather see the present tariff (no matter how earnest they are for tariff reform) kept up than to be under the heel again of the little petry tyrant, not to say anything about putting out of power the present corrupt Republican party.

The truth is, until a Democrat is elected

The truth is, until a Democrat is elected President there is no sort of chance to get even "tariff reform," much less the put-ting out of "the rascals" who have so long kept power by abusing the southern

We are sorry to say that there are Demo cratic papers which circulate widely in Virginia that never miss an opportunity to cast slurs upon the Democrats who refuse to regard the Morrison bill as a Democratic measure, and who decline to make the tariff question a test of party fealty. If the papers which are opposed to agitation were to remain silent the papers which believe in fighting the presidential battle upon the issue of "a tariff for revenue only" would soon have the Democrats ready to "do or die" in defence of their hobby.

The Petersburg and Richmond and Lynchburg papers, and the New York World and Sun, and leading Democratic papers in all the southern States, deprecate a tariff agitation. These our correspondent reads. But he does not read the Washington Post, and Louisville Courier- Cash was "the product of his environ-Journal, and other Democratic journals ments." This is good. We suppose the that day after day denounce Mr. RANDALL women who made a saint of Ruge, the and his millions of followers as assistant Long Island negro fiend, are the product bilcans. Even in Virginia there are of their environments.

Richmond Dispatch. papers which have no kinder words for the RANDALL Democrats than for the Bepublicans—which, in fact, seem to regard them as enemies. Is there a sounder Democratic paper in Virginia than the Norfolk Ledger? Yet it speaks of Hor-KINS, WARNER, and all but four of the Democrats who voted to kill the Morrison bill, as follows:

"We do not know whom the Dispotch regards as 'the very best Democrata.' but if we except Randall. Eaton, Converse, and George D. Wise, we do not remember to have seen the names of the rest of the Randallites except in the Congressional Directory."

The Eastern Virginian talks as follows

hadn't "principle" enough to come out The Washington Post of yesterday threatens Mr. TILDEN as follows:

"Does Mr. Tilden wish to be understood "Does Mr. Tilden wish to be understood new as repudiating the Democratic principles upon which he was elected President eight years ago? "The Democrats of the United States will not support a Prefectionist for President, and they will not vote a ticket nominated on a Protectionist platform."

There is no other State in the Union where the negroes are more kindly and justly treated than they are in Virginia. There is no town in Virginia where the negroes are better cared for than in Danville. It is a pity, especially for them, that they ever put such men as Johnston forward as their leaders.

In order to let our readers understand the merits of this new Danville case, and because the Mahoneites have attempted to make party capital out of it, we reproduce our Danville correspondent's account of the medital correspondent's account of the merits of the make party capital out of it, we reproduce our Danville correspondent's account of the merits of the mentits of the merits of the merits of the merits of the merits of the merit power.

The Republican House of Representatives rose to the height of the tariff question yesterday in refusing to do away with the discriminating duty on foreign works of art.

Note that: "The Republican House of Representatives"! This is said of a body in which the Democrats have seventy mafority. The vote was yeas 52, nays 179! sn't it enough to cause the opponents of tariff agitation to "strike back" to see a paper denouncing 179 men because they efused to agree with 52? We could fill columns with extracts from the Courier-Journal and other such papers going to show that Mr. RANDALL is no Democrat at all; that his followers are traitors to principle; and that there is nothing to fight for this year if the tariff illness.

San-tos, of Norfolk, presiding. Representa-tives of the profession were present from all the principal cities in the State. However, many were unavoidably prevented from being present, principally, it is ex-plained, on account of the near approach of the spring election.

The Association as represented in the Convention is an intelligent and fine-looking body of gentlemen, this conspicuous fact being the subject of general remark.

Rev. R. R. Acree, pastor of College-Hill Baptist church, offered an impressive and peculiarly appropriate prayer; after which Dr. W. A. His references to Lynchburg, to her prosperity, natural situation, literary institutions, religious influences, her men of worth, and to the loveliness of her women, were heartily applauded. He reviewed the history of pharmacy in this country and then throughout the world, making appropriate reference to its laws in all countries, and reference to its laws in all coun ries, and also made allusion to the achievements of the leading pharmaceutists of the world.

The address also embraced reference t the journalistic department of the profes sion, and to the great work accomplished by women. The speaker was attentively listened to throughout, and loudly ap-plauded. At the conclusion of his remarks the Executive Committee reported the number of applications for member-ship, but all matters were postponed until the first meeting for the transaction of business, which will be held to-morrow morning in Tunstall building.
